ADBL Security Scan Report

Burp Suite Professional

Summary

The table below shows the numbers of issues identified in different categories. Issues are classified according to severity as High, Medium, Low or Information. This reflects the likely impact of each issue for a typical organization. Issues are also classified according to confidence as Certain, Firm or Tentative. This reflects the inherent reliability of the technique that was used to identify the issue.

		Confidence
		Certain	Firm	Tentative	Total
Severity	High	0	20	1	21
	Medium	0	2	0	2
	Low	6	1	7	14

The chart below shows the aggregated numbers of issues identified in each category. Solid colored bars represent issues with a confidence level of Certain, and the bars fade as the confidence level falls.

1. High severity issues

1.1. SQL injection

There are 2 instances of this issue:

- /admin/blog-category/create [URL path filename]
- /admin/blogs/create [URL path filename]

Issue background

SQL injection vulnerabilities arise when user-controllable data is incorporated into database SQL queries in an unsafe manner. An attacker can supply crafted input to break out of the data context in which their input appears and interfere with the structure of the surrounding query.

A wide range of damaging attacks can often be delivered via SQL injection, including reading or modifying critical application data, interfering with application logic, escalating privileges within the database and taking control of the database server.

Remediation background

The most effective way to prevent SQL injection attacks is to use parameterized queries (also known as prepared statements) for all database access. This method uses two steps to incorporate potentially tainted data into SQL queries: first, the application specifies the structure of the query, leaving placeholders for each item of user input; second, the application specifies the contents of each placeholder. Because the structure of the query has already been defined in the first step, it is not possible for malformed data in the second step to interfere with the query structure. You should review the documentation for your database and application platform to determine the appropriate APIs which you can use to perform parameterized queries. It is strongly recommended that you parameterize every variable data item that is incorporated into database queries, even if it is not obviously tainted, to prevent oversights occurring and avoid vulnerabilities being introduced by changes elsewhere within the code base of the application.

You should be aware that some commonly employed and recommended mitigations for SQL injection vulnerabilities are not always effective:

- One common defense is to double up any single quotation marks appearing within user input before incorporating that input into a SQL query. This defense is designed to prevent malformed data from terminating the string into which it is inserted. However, if the data being incorporated into queries is numeric, then the defense may fail, because numeric data may not be encapsulated within quotes, in which case only a space is required to break out of the data context and interfere with the query. Further, in second-order SQL injection attacks, data that has been safely escaped when initially inserted into the database is subsequently read from the database and then passed back to it again. Quotation marks that have been doubled up initially will return to their original form when the data is reused, allowing the defense to be bypassed.
- Another often cited defense is to use stored procedures for database access. While stored procedures can provide security benefits, they are not guaranteed to prevent SQL injection attacks. The same kinds of vulnerabilities that arise within standard dynamic SQL queries can arise if any SQL is dynamically constructed within stored procedures. Further, even if the procedure is sound, SQL injection can arise if the procedure is invoked in an unsafe manner using user-controllable data.

1.1.1. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/blog-category/create [URL path filename]

Summary

Severity:	High
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/blog-category/create

Issue detail

The URL path filename appears to be vulnerable to SQL injection attacks. The payload ' was submitted in the URL path filename, and a database error message was returned. You should review the contents of the error message, and the application's handling of other input, to confirm whether a vulnerability is present.

The database appears to be PostgreSQL.

Remediation detail

The application should handle errors gracefully and prevent SQL error messages from being returned in responses.

1.2. Client-side desync

Summary

Severity:	High
Confidence:	Tentative
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/admin-type

Issue detail

The server appears to be vulnerable to client-side desync attacks. A POST request was sent to the path '/admin/admin-type' with a second request sent as the body. The server ignored the Content-Length header and did not close the connection, leading to the smuggled request being interpreted as the next request.

Issue background

Client-side desync (CSD) vulnerabilities occur when a web server fails to correctly process the Content-Length of POST requests. By exploiting this behavior, an attacker can force a victim's browser to desynchronize its connection with the website, typically leading to XSS.

Issue remediation

You can resolve this vulnerability by patching the server so that it either processes POST requests correctly, or closes the connection after handling them. You could also disable connection reuse entirely, but this may reduce performance. You can also resolve this issue by enabling HTTP/2.

1.3. Cross-site scripting (DOM-based)

Issue background

DOM-based vulnerabilities arise when a client-side script reads data from a controllable part of the DOM (for example, the URL) and processes this data in an unsafe way.

DOM-based cross-site scripting arises when a script writes controllable data into the HTML document in an unsafe way. An attacker may be able to use the vulnerability to construct a URL that, if visited by another application user, will cause JavaScript code supplied by the attacker to execute within the user's browser in the context of that user's session with the application.

The attacker-supplied code can perform a wide variety of actions, such as stealing the victim's session token or login credentials, performing arbitrary actions on the victim's behalf, and logging their keystrokes.

Users can be induced to visit the attacker's crafted URL in various ways, similar to the usual attack delivery vectors for reflected cross-site scripting vulnerabilities.

Burp Suite automatically identifies this issue using dynamic and static code analysis. Static analysis can lead to false positives that are not actually exploitable. If Burp Scanner has not provided any evidence resulting from dynamic analysis, you should review the relevant code and execution paths to determine whether this vulnerability is indeed present, or whether mitigations are in place that would prevent exploitation.

Issue remediation

The most effective way to avoid DOM-based cross-site scripting vulnerabilities is not to dynamically write data from any untrusted source into the HTML document. If the desired functionality of the application means that this behavior is unavoidable, then defenses must be implemented within the client-side code to prevent malicious data from introducing script code into the document. In many cases, the relevant data can be validated on a whitelist basis, to allow only content that is known to be safe. In other cases, it will be necessary to sanitize or encode the data. This can be a complex task, and depending on the context that the data is to be inserted may need to involve a combination of JavaScript escaping, HTML encoding, and URL encoding, in the appropriate sequence.

2. Medium severity issues

2.1. Web cache poisoning

Summary

Severity:	Medium
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbank.peacenepal.com
Path:	/en/offer/nari-bachaat

Issue detail

The application uses a cache that does not include every query parameter in the cache key. This means the cache can be manipulated into saving responses that have been influenced by these parameters.

Burp set the following parameter in the request:

utm_content=dfc7pffrw3

This resulted in a response containing dfc7pffrw3. Burp then resent the request with a different parameter value and got the same response, indicating that it had been cached.

Issue background

Web caches identify resources using a few specific components of each HTTP request, together known as the cache key. Two requests with the same cache key are regarded by the cache as equivalent.

Web cache poisoning vulnerabilities arise when an application behind a cache processes input that is not included in the cache key. Attackers can exploit this by sending crafted input to trigger a harmful response that the cache will then save and serve to other users.

The impact is potentially serious as the malicious cached page may be served to a large number of users without other interaction. The threat posed by this vulnerability depends largely on what can be achieved with the input. Often the input is vulnerable to XSS, or can be used to trigger a redirect to another domain. Other times, it can simply be used to swap pages around.

Issue remediation

To resolve this issue, either disable support for the affected input, or disable caching on all affected pages.

If both the affected input and caching behavior are required, configure the cache to ensure that the input is included in the cache key. Depending on which caching solution you use, if the input is in a request header it might be possible to achieve this using the Vary response header.

2.2. TLS cookie without secure flag set

Summary

Severity:	Medium
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin

Issue detail

The following cookie was issued by the application and does not have the secure flag set:

- adbl_backend_session

The cookie appears to contain a session token, which may increase the risk associated with this issue. You should review the contents of the cookie to determine its function.This issue was found in multiple locations under the reported path.

Issue background

If the secure flag is set on a cookie, then browsers will not submit the cookie in any requests that use an unencrypted HTTP connection, thereby preventing the cookie from being trivially intercepted by an attacker monitoring network traffic. If the secure flag is not set, then the cookie will be transmitted in clear-text if the user visits any HTTP URLs within the cookie's scope. An attacker may be able to induce this event by feeding a user suitable links, either directly or via another web site. Even if the domain that issued the cookie does not host any content that is accessed over HTTP, an attacker may be able to use links of the form http://example.com:443/ to perform the same attack.

To exploit this vulnerability, an attacker must be suitably positioned to eavesdrop on the victim's network traffic. This scenario typically occurs when a client communicates with the server over an insecure connection such as public Wi-Fi, or a corporate or home network that is shared with a compromised computer. Common defenses such as switched networks are not sufficient to prevent this. An attacker situated in the user's ISP or the application's hosting infrastructure could also perform this attack. Note that an advanced adversary could potentially target any connection made over the Internet's core infrastructure.

Issue remediation

The secure flag should be set on all cookies that are used for transmitting sensitive data when accessing content over HTTPS. If cookies are used to transmit session tokens, then areas of the application that are accessed over HTTPS should employ their own session handling mechanism, and the session tokens used should never be transmitted over unencrypted communications.

Vulnerability classifications

- CWE-614: Sensitive Cookie in HTTPS Session Without 'Secure' Attribute

3. Low severity issues

3.1. Vulnerable JavaScript dependency

There are 4 instances of this issue:

- /admin/layout
- /backend/js/jquery-ui.js
- /backend/js/plugins.bundle.js
- /backend/plugins/datatables/datatables.bundle.js

Issue background

The use of third-party JavaScript libraries can introduce a range of DOM-based vulnerabilities, including some that can be used to hijack user accounts like DOM-XSS.

Common JavaScript libraries typically enjoy the benefit of being heavily audited. This may mean that bugs are quickly identified and patched upstream, resulting in a steady stream of security updates that need to be applied. Although it may be tempting to ignore updates, using a library with missing security patches can make your website exceptionally easy to exploit. Therefore, it's important to ensure that any available security updates are applied promptly.

Some library vulnerabilities expose every application that imports the library, but others only affect applications that use certain library features. Accurately identifying which library vulnerabilities apply to your website can be difficult, so we recommend applying all available security updates regardless.

Issue remediation

Develop a patch-management strategy to ensure that security updates are promptly applied to all third-party libraries in your application. Also, consider reducing your attack surface by removing any libraries that are no longer in use.

Vulnerability classifications

- CWE-1104: Use of Unmaintained Third Party Components
- A9: Using Components with Known Vulnerabilities

Issue detail

We observed a vulnerable JavaScript library.

We detected jquery-ui version 1.10.3, which has the following vulnerabilities:

- CVE-2021-41184: XSS in the `of` option of the `.position()` util
- CVE-2021-41183: XSS Vulnerability on text options of jQuery UI datepicker
- CVE-2021-41182: XSS in the `altField` option of the Datepicker widget
- CVE-2022-31160: XSS when refreshing a checkboxradio with an HTML-like initial text label

3.2. Open redirection (reflected)

Summary

Severity:	Low
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/login

Issue detail

The value of the Referer HTTP header is used to perform an HTTP redirect. The payload http://at2a5x11vmx/a?https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/login was submitted in the Referer HTTP header. This caused a redirection to the following URL:

- http://at2a5x11vmx/a?https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/login

The original request used the POST method, however it was possible to convert the request to use the GET method, to enable viable exploitation in a phishing attack.

Because the data used in the redirection is submitted within a header, the application's behavior is unlikely to be directly useful in lending credibility to a phishing attack. This limitation considerably mitigates the impact of the vulnerability.

Issue background

Open redirection vulnerabilities arise when an application incorporates user-controllable data into the target of a redirection in an unsafe way. An attacker can construct a URL within the application that causes a redirection to an arbitrary external domain. This behavior can be leveraged to facilitate phishing attacks against users of the application. The ability to use an authentic application URL, targeting the correct domain and with a valid SSL certificate (if SSL is used), lends credibility to the phishing attack because many users, even if they verify these features, will not notice the subsequent redirection to a different domain.

Issue remediation

If possible, applications should avoid incorporating user-controllable data into redirection targets. In many cases, this behavior can be avoided in two ways:

- Remove the redirection function from the application, and replace links to it with direct links to the relevant target URLs.
- Maintain a server-side list of all URLs that are permitted for redirection. Instead of passing the target URL as a parameter to the redirector, pass an index into this list.

If it is considered unavoidable for the redirection function to receive user-controllable input and incorporate this into the redirection target, one of the following measures should be used to minimize the risk of redirection attacks:

- The application should use relative URLs in all of its redirects, and the redirection function should strictly validate that the URL received is a relative URL.
- The application should use URLs relative to the web root for all of its redirects, and the redirection function should validate that the URL received starts with a slash character. It should then prepend http://yourdomainname.com to the URL before issuing the redirect.
- The application should use absolute URLs for all of its redirects, and the redirection function should verify that the user-supplied URL begins with http://yourdomainname.com/ before issuing the redirect.

3.3. Open redirection (DOM-based)

There are 3 instances of this issue:

- /admin/import/store-atm
- /admin/import/store-branch
- /admin/reset_password

Issue background

DOM-based vulnerabilities arise when a client-side script reads data from a controllable part of the DOM (for example, the URL) and processes this data in an unsafe way.

DOM-based open redirection arises when a script writes controllable data into the target of a redirection in an unsafe way. An attacker may be able to use the vulnerability to construct a URL that, if visited by another application user, will cause a redirection to an arbitrary external domain. This behavior can be leveraged to facilitate phishing attacks against users of the application. The ability to use an authentic application URL, targeting the correct domain and with a valid SSL certificate (if SSL is used), lends credibility to the phishing attack because many users, even if they verify these features, will not notice the subsequent redirection to a different domain.

Note: If an attacker is able to control the start of the string that is passed to the redirection API, then it may be possible to escalate this vulnerability into a JavaScript injection attack, by using a URL with the javascript: pseudo-protocol to execute arbitrary script code when the URL is processed by the browser.

Burp Suite automatically identifies this issue using dynamic and static code analysis. Static analysis can lead to false positives that are not actually exploitable. If Burp Scanner has not provided any evidence resulting from dynamic analysis, you should review the relevant code and execution paths to determine whether this vulnerability is indeed present, or whether mitigations are in place that would prevent exploitation.

Issue remediation

The most effective way to avoid DOM-based open redirection vulnerabilities is not to dynamically set redirection targets using data that originated from any untrusted source. If the desired functionality of the application means that this behavior is unavoidable, then defenses must be implemented within the client-side code to prevent malicious data from introducing an arbitrary URL as a redirection target. In general, this is best achieved by using a whitelist of URLs that are permitted redirection targets, and strictly validating the target against this list before performing the redirection.

3.4. Password field with autocomplete enabled

There are 2 instances of this issue:

- /admin
- /admin/blog-category/create

Issue background

Most browsers have a facility to remember user credentials that are entered into HTML forms. This function can be configured by the user and also by applications that employ user credentials. If the function is enabled, then credentials entered by the user are stored on their local computer and retrieved by the browser on future visits to the same application.

The stored credentials can be captured by an attacker who gains control over the user's computer. Further, an attacker who finds a separate application vulnerability such as cross-site scripting may be able to exploit this to retrieve a user's browser-stored credentials.

Issue remediation

To prevent browsers from storing credentials entered into HTML forms, include the attribute autocomplete="off" within the FORM tag (to protect all form fields) or within the relevant INPUT tags (to protect specific individual fields).

Please note that modern web browsers may ignore this directive. In spite of this there is a chance that not disabling autocomplete may cause problems obtaining PCI compliance.

3.5. Client-side HTTP parameter pollution (reflected)

Summary

Severity:	Low
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/login

Issue detail

The value of the Referer HTTP header is copied into the response within the query string of a URL.

The payload wnu&uvk=1 was submitted in the Referer HTTP header. This input was echoed as wnu&uvk=1 within the "content" attribute of a "meta" tag.

This proof-of-concept attack demonstrates that it is possible to inject arbitrary query string parameters into URLs in the application's response.

Issue background

Client-side HTTP parameter pollution (HPP) vulnerabilities arise when an application embeds user input in URLs in an unsafe manner. An attacker can use this vulnerability to construct a URL that, if visited by another application user, will modify URLs within the response by inserting additional query string parameters and sometimes overriding existing ones. This may result in links and forms having unexpected side effects. For example, it may be possible to modify an invitation form using HPP so that the invitation is delivered to an unexpected recipient.

The security impact of this issue depends largely on the nature of the application functionality. Even if it has no direct impact on its own, an attacker may use it in conjunction with other vulnerabilities to escalate their overall severity.

Issue remediation

Ensure that user input is URL-encoded before it is embedded in a URL.

3.6. Strict transport security not enforced

There are 3 instances of this issue:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/
- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/blog-category/create
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/

Issue background

The application fails to prevent users from connecting to it over unencrypted connections. An attacker able to modify a legitimate user's network traffic could bypass the application's use of SSL/TLS encryption, and use the application as a platform for attacks against its users. This attack is performed by rewriting HTTPS links as HTTP, so that if a targeted user follows a link to the site from an HTTP page, their browser never attempts to use an encrypted connection. The sslstrip tool automates this process.

To exploit this vulnerability, an attacker must be suitably positioned to intercept and modify the victim's network traffic.This scenario typically occurs when a client communicates with the server over an insecure connection such as public Wi-Fi, or a corporate or home network that is shared with a compromised computer. Common defenses such as switched networks are not sufficient to prevent this. An attacker situated in the user's ISP or the application's hosting infrastructure could also perform this attack. Note that an advanced adversary could potentially target any connection made over the Internet's core infrastructure.

Issue remediation

The application should instruct web browsers to only access the application using HTTPS. To do this, enable HTTP Strict Transport Security (HSTS) by adding a response header with the name 'Strict-Transport-Security' and the value 'max-age=expireTime', where expireTime is the time in seconds that browsers should remember that the site should only be accessed using HTTPS. Consider adding the 'includeSubDomains' flag if appropriate.

Note that because HSTS is a "trust on first use" (TOFU) protocol, a user who has never accessed the application will never have seen the HSTS header, and will therefore still be vulnerable to SSL stripping attacks. To mitigate this risk, you can optionally add the 'preload' flag to the HSTS header, and submit the domain for review by browser vendors.

4. Informational issues

4.1. Cross-site scripting (reflected)

There are 9 instances of this issue:

- /board-of-directors/mr-govinda-prasad-bhattarai [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /board-of-directors/mr-sanjeev-paudel [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /board-of-directors/ram-sharan-pudasaini [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

- /en/management-team/mr-govinda-gurung [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /en/reports/basel-ii-disclosure [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Issue background

Reflected cross-site scripting vulnerabilities arise when data is copied from a request and echoed into the application's immediate response in an unsafe way. An attacker can use the vulnerability to construct a request that, if issued by another application user, will cause JavaScript code supplied by the attacker to execute within the user's browser in the context of that user's session with the application.

The attacker-supplied code can perform a wide variety of actions, such as stealing the victim's session token or login credentials, performing arbitrary actions on the victim's behalf, and logging their keystrokes.

Users can be induced to issue the attacker's crafted request in various ways. For example, the attacker can send a victim a link containing a malicious URL in an email or instant message. They can submit the link to popular web sites that allow content authoring, for example in blog comments. And they can create an innocuous looking web site that causes anyone viewing it to make arbitrary cross-domain requests to the vulnerable application (using either the GET or the POST method).

The security impact of cross-site scripting vulnerabilities is dependent upon the nature of the vulnerable application, the kinds of data and functionality that it contains, and the other applications that belong to the same domain and organization. If the application is used only to display non-sensitive public content, with no authentication or access control functionality, then a cross-site scripting flaw may be considered low risk. However, if the same application resides on a domain that can access cookies for other more security-critical applications, then the vulnerability could be used to attack those other applications, and so may be considered high risk. Similarly, if the organization that owns the application is a likely target for phishing attacks, then the vulnerability could be leveraged to lend credibility to such attacks, by injecting Trojan functionality into the vulnerable application and exploiting users' trust in the organization in order to capture credentials for other applications that it owns. In many kinds of application, such as those providing online banking functionality, cross-site scripting should always be considered high risk.

Issue remediation

In most situations where user-controllable data is copied into application responses, cross-site scripting attacks can be prevented using two layers of defenses:

- Input should be validated as strictly as possible on arrival, given the kind of content that it is expected to contain. For example, personal names should consist of alphabetical and a small range of typographical characters, and be relatively short; a year of birth should consist of exactly four numerals; email addresses should match a well-defined regular expression. Input which fails the validation should be rejected, not sanitized.
- User input should be HTML-encoded at any point where it is copied into application responses. All HTML metacharacters, including < > " ' and =, should be replaced with the corresponding HTML entities (< > etc).

In cases where the application's functionality allows users to author content using a restricted subset of HTML tags and attributes (for example, blog comments which allow limited formatting and linking), it is necessary to parse the supplied HTML to validate that it does not use any dangerous syntax; this is a non-trivial task.

4.1.1. https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/board-of-directors/mr-govinda-prasad-bhattarai [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbank.peacenepal.com
Path:	/board-of-directors/mr-govinda-prasad-bhattarai

Issue detail

The name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter is copied into the HTML document as plain text between tags. The payload vp500<script>alert(1)</script>f8ntt was submitted in the name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter. This input was echoed unmodified in the application's response.

This proof-of-concept attack demonstrates that it is possible to inject arbitrary JavaScript into the application's response.

Note that a redirection occurred between the attack request and the response containing the echoed input. It is necessary to follow this redirection for the attack to succeed. When the attack is carried out via a browser, the redirection will be followed automatically.

The response does not state that the content type is HTML. The issue is only directly exploitable if a browser can be made to interpret the response as HTML. No modern browser will interpret the response as HTML. However, the issue might be indirectly exploitable if a client-side script processes the response and embeds it into an HTML context.

4.1.3. https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/board-of-directors/ram-sharan-pudasaini [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbank.peacenepal.com
Path:	/board-of-directors/ram-sharan-pudasaini

Issue detail

The name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter is copied into the HTML document as plain text between tags. The payload qq1ey<script>alert(1)</script>f2v2x was submitted in the name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter. This input was echoed unmodified in the application's response.

This proof-of-concept attack demonstrates that it is possible to inject arbitrary JavaScript into the application's response.

Note that a redirection occurred between the attack request and the response containing the echoed input. It is necessary to follow this redirection for the attack to succeed. When the attack is carried out via a browser, the redirection will be followed automatically.

The response does not state that the content type is HTML. The issue is only directly exploitable if a browser can be made to interpret the response as HTML. No modern browser will interpret the response as HTML. However, the issue might be indirectly exploitable if a client-side script processes the response and embeds it into an HTML context.

Issue background

An HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy controls whether and how content running on other domains can perform two-way interaction with the domain that publishes the policy. The policy is fine-grained and can apply access controls per-request based on the URL and other features of the request.

If another domain is allowed by the policy, then that domain can potentially attack users of the application. If a user is logged in to the application, and visits a domain allowed by the policy, then any malicious content running on that domain can potentially retrieve content from the application, and sometimes carry out actions within the security context of the logged in user.

Even if an allowed domain is not overtly malicious in itself, security vulnerabilities within that domain could potentially be leveraged by an attacker to exploit the trust relationship and attack the application that allows access. CORS policies on pages containing sensitive information should be reviewed to determine whether it is appropriate for the application to trust both the intentions and security posture of any domains granted access.

Issue remediation

Any inappropriate domains should be removed from the CORS policy.

4.2.1. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/account-type

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/account-type

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.6. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/admin-type/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/admin-type/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/blog-category/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.25. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/faq-category

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/faq-category

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.31. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/gallery/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/gallery/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.38. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/layout

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/layout

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.44. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/module

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/module

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.51. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/popup/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/popup/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.57. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/report-category

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/report-category

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.64. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/services

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/services

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.70. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/team/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/team/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.2.76. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/vendor

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/vendor

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request.

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

Issue background

An HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy controls whether and how content running on other domains can perform two-way interaction with the domain that publishes the policy. The policy is fine-grained and can apply access controls per-request based on the URL and other features of the request.

Trusting arbitrary origins effectively disables the same-origin policy, allowing two-way interaction by third-party web sites. Unless the response consists only of unprotected public content, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

If the site specifies the header Access-Control-Allow-Credentials: true, third-party sites may be able to carry out privileged actions and retrieve sensitive information. Even if it does not, attackers may be able to bypass any IP-based access controls by proxying through users' browsers.

Issue remediation

Rather than using a wildcard or programmatically verifying supplied origins, use a whitelist of trusted domains.

4.3.1. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/account-type

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/account-type

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://ywttefhiddaz.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.2. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/account-type-category

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/account-type-category

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://fyloegdnwwrg.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.8. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/atm-location/create

Summary

Severity: Information

Confidence: Certain

Host: https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com

Path: /admin/atm-location/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://ckjnrddssbwq.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.14. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/blogs/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/blogs/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://hsioqewehway.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://uhqhsbuqeshf.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://kkrubneqtkaz.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.32. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/import/atm

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/import/atm

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://guipvpllylmq.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.39. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/log

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/log

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://tzjpfdlqisub.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.45. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/module/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/module/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://qovccgewwpwu.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.51. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/popup/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/popup/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://nmezbndzoexz.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.57. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/report-category

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/report-category

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://qzvpmitysekh.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.64. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/services

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/services

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://isergutkdavm.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.70. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/team/create

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/team/create

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://gxtgbumrispy.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.3.76. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/vendor

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/vendor

Issue detail

The application implements an HTML5 cross-origin resource sharing (CORS) policy for this request that allows access from any domain.

The application allowed access from the requested origin https://wlxjdgsphney.com

If the application relies on network firewalls or other IP-based access controls, this policy is likely to present a security risk.

Since the Vary: Origin header was not present in the response, reverse proxies and intermediate servers may cache it. This may enable an attacker to carry out cache poisoning attacks.

4.4. Cross-site request forgery

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Tentative
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/login

Issue detail

The request appears to be vulnerable to cross-site request forgery (CSRF) attacks against unauthenticated functionality. This is unlikely to constitute a security vulnerability in its own right, however it may facilitate exploitation of other vulnerabilities affecting application users.

The original request contains parameters that look like they may be anti-CSRF tokens. However the request is successful if these parameters are removed.

The application appears to block the request cross-domain by checking the Referer header. However, the request is successful if the Referer header is removed. Note that various techniques exist which enable cross-domain requests to be issued without a Referer header.

Issue background

Cross-site request forgery (CSRF) vulnerabilities may arise when applications rely solely on HTTP cookies to identify the user that has issued a particular request. Because browsers automatically add cookies to requests regardless of their origin, it may be possible for an attacker to create a malicious web site that forges a cross-domain request to the vulnerable application. For a request to be vulnerable to CSRF, the following conditions must hold:

- The request can be issued cross-domain, for example using an HTML form. If the request contains non-standard headers or body content, then it may only be issuable from a page that originated on the same domain.
- The application relies solely on HTTP cookies or Basic Authentication to identify the user that issued the request. If the application places session-related tokens elsewhere within the request, then it may not be vulnerable.
- The request performs some privileged action within the application, which modifies the application's state based on the identity of the issuing user.
- The attacker can determine all the parameters required to construct a request that performs the action. If the request contains any values that the attacker cannot determine or predict, then it is not vulnerable.

Issue remediation

The most effective way to protect against CSRF vulnerabilities is to include within relevant requests an additional token that is not transmitted in a cookie: for example, a parameter in a hidden form field. This additional token should contain sufficient entropy, and be generated using a cryptographic random number generator, such that it is not feasible for an attacker to determine or predict the value of any token that was issued to another user. The token should be associated with the user's session, and the application should validate that the correct token is received before performing any action resulting from the request.

An alternative approach, which may be easier to implement, is to validate that Host and Referer headers in relevant requests are both present and contain the same domain name. However, this approach is somewhat less robust: historically, quirks in browsers and plugins have often enabled attackers to forge cross-domain requests that manipulate these headers to bypass such defenses.

4.5. Spoofable client IP address

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Tentative
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/reset_password

Issue description

If an application trusts an HTTP request header like X-Forwarded-For to accurately specify the remote IP address of the connecting client, then malicious clients can spoof their IP address. This behavior does not necessarily constitute a security vulnerability, however some applications use client IP addresses to enforce access controls and rate limits. For example, an application might expose administrative functionality only to clients connecting from the local IP address of the server, or allow a certain number of failed login attempts from each unique IP address. Consider reviewing relevant functionality to determine whether this might be the case.

Issue remediation

HTTP request headers such as X-Forwarded-For, True-Client-IP, and X-Real-IP are not a robust foundation on which to build any security measures, such as access controls. Any such measures should be replaced with more secure alternatives that are not vulnerable to spoofing.

If the platform application server returns incorrect information about the client's IP address due to the presence of any particular HTTP request header, then the server may need to be reconfigured, or an alternative method of identifying clients should be used.

4.6. User agent-dependent response

There are 3 instances of this issue:

- /admin/import/store-atm
- /admin/import/store-branch
- /admin/reset_password

Issue description

Application responses may depend systematically on the value of the User-Agent header in requests. This behavior does not itself constitute a security vulnerability, but may point towards additional attack surface within the application, which may contain vulnerabilities.

This behavior often arises because applications provide different user interfaces for desktop and mobile users. Mobile interfaces have often been less thoroughly tested for vulnerabilities such as cross-site scripting, and often have simpler authentication and session handling mechanisms that may contain problems that are not present in the full interface.

To review the interface provided by the alternate User-Agent header, you can configure a match/replace rule in Burp Proxy to modify the User-Agent header in all requests, and then browse the application in the normal way using your normal browser.

Issue background

Reflection of input arises when data is copied from a request and echoed into the application's immediate response.

Input being returned in application responses is not a vulnerability in its own right. However, it is a prerequisite for many client-side vulnerabilities, including cross-site scripting, open redirection, content spoofing, and response header injection. Additionally, some server-side vulnerabilities such as SQL injection are often easier to identify and exploit when input is returned in responses. In applications where input retrieval is rare and the environment is resistant to automated testing (for example, due to a web application firewall), it might be worth subjecting instances of it to focused manual testing.

Vulnerability classifications

- CWE-20: Improper Input Validation
- CWE-116: Improper Encoding or Escaping of Output

4.8. Cross-domain Referer leakage

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/forex

Issue detail

The page was loaded from a URL containing a query string:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/forex

The response contains the following link to another domain:

- https://fonts.googleapis.com/css?family=Poppins:300,400,500,600,700

Issue background

When a web browser makes a request for a resource, it typically adds an HTTP header, called the "Referer" header, indicating the URL of the resource from which the request originated. This occurs in numerous situations, for example when a web page loads an image or script, or when a user clicks on a link or submits a form.

If the resource being requested resides on a different domain, then the Referer header is still generally included in the cross-domain request. If the originating URL contains any sensitive information within its query string, such as a session token, then this information will be transmitted to the other domain. If the other domain is not fully trusted by the application, then this may lead to a security compromise.

You should review the contents of the information being transmitted to other domains, and also determine whether those domains are fully trusted by the originating application.

Today's browsers may withhold the Referer header in some situations (for example, when loading a non-HTTPS resource from a page that was loaded over HTTPS, or when a Refresh directive is issued), but this behavior should not be relied upon to protect the originating URL from disclosure.

Note also that if users can author content within the application then an attacker may be able to inject links referring to a domain they control in order to capture data from URLs used within the application.

Issue remediation

Applications should never transmit any sensitive information within the URL query string. In addition to being leaked in the Referer header, such information may be logged in various locations and may be visible on-screen to untrusted parties. If placing sensitive information in the URL is unavoidable, consider using the Referer-Policy HTTP header to reduce the chance of it being disclosed to third parties.

4.9. Cross-domain script include

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/layout

Issue detail

The response dynamically includes the following script from another domain:

- https://ajax.googleapis.com/ajax/libs/jqueryui/1.10.3/jquery-ui.min.js

Issue background

When an application includes a script from an external domain, this script is executed by the browser within the security context of the invoking application. The script can therefore do anything that the application's own scripts can do, such as accessing application data and performing actions within the context of the current user.

If you include a script from an external domain, then you are trusting that domain with the data and functionality of your application, and you are trusting the domain's own security to prevent an attacker from modifying the script to perform malicious actions within your application.

Issue remediation

Scripts should ideally not be included from untrusted domains. Applications that rely on static third-party scripts should consider using Subresource Integrity to make browsers verify them, or copying the contents of these scripts onto their own domain and including them from there. If that is not possible (e.g. for licensing reasons) then consider reimplementing the script's functionality within application code.

4.10. File upload functionality

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin

Issue detail

The page contains a form which is used to submit a user-supplied file to the following URL:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/blogs

Note that Burp has not identified any specific security vulnerabilities with this functionality, and you should manually review it to determine whether any problems exist.This issue was found in multiple locations under the reported path.

Issue background

File upload functionality is commonly associated with a number of vulnerabilities, including:

- File path traversal
- Persistent cross-site scripting
- Placing of other client-executable code into the domain
- Transmission of viruses and other malware
- Denial of service

You should review file upload functionality to understand its purpose, and establish whether uploaded content is ever returned to other application users, either through their normal usage of the application or by being fed a specific link by an attacker.

Some factors to consider when evaluating the security impact of this functionality include:

- Whether uploaded content can subsequently be downloaded via a URL within the application.
- What Content-type and Content-disposition headers the application returns when the file's content is downloaded.
- Whether it is possible to place executable HTML/JavaScript into the file, which executes when the file's contents are viewed.
- Whether the application performs any filtering on the file extension or MIME type of the uploaded file.
- Whether it is possible to construct a hybrid file containing both executable and non-executable content, to bypass any content filters - for example, a file containing both a GIF image and a Java archive (known as a GIFAR file).
- What location is used to store uploaded content, and whether it is possible to supply a crafted filename to escape from this location.
- Whether archive formats such as ZIP are unpacked by the application.
- How the application handles attempts to upload very large files, or decompression bomb files.

Issue remediation

File upload functionality is not straightforward to implement securely. Some recommendations to consider in the design of this functionality include:

- Use a server-generated filename if storing uploaded files on disk.
- Inspect the content of uploaded files, and enforce a whitelist of accepted, non-executable content types. Additionally, enforce a blacklist of common executable formats, to hinder hybrid file attacks.
- Enforce a whitelist of accepted, non-executable file extensions.
- If uploaded files are downloaded by users, supply an accurate non-generic Content-Type header, the X-Content-Type-Options: nosniff header, and also a Content-Disposition header that specifies that browsers should handle the file as an attachment.
- Enforce a size limit on uploaded files (for defense-in-depth, this can be implemented both within application code and in the web server's configuration).
- Reject attempts to upload archive formats such as ZIP.

4.11. Frameable response (potential Clickjacking)

There are 3 instances of this issue:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin
- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/blog-category/create
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/

Issue background

If a page fails to set an appropriate X-Frame-Options or Content-Security-Policy HTTP header, it might be possible for a page controlled by an attacker to load it within an iframe. This may enable a clickjacking attack, in which the attacker's page overlays the target application's interface with a different interface provided by the attacker. By inducing victim users to perform actions such as mouse clicks and keystrokes, the attacker can cause them to unwittingly carry out actions within the application that is being targeted. This technique allows the attacker to circumvent defenses against cross-site request forgery, and may result in unauthorized actions.

Note that some applications attempt to prevent these attacks from within the HTML page itself, using "framebusting" code. However, this type of defense is normally ineffective and can usually be circumvented by a skilled attacker.

You should determine whether any functions accessible within frameable pages can be used by application users to perform any sensitive actions within the application.

Issue remediation

To effectively prevent framing attacks, the application should return a response header with the name X-Frame-Options and the value DENY to prevent framing altogether, or the value SAMEORIGIN to allow framing only by pages on the same origin as the response itself. Note that the SAMEORIGIN header can be partially bypassed if the application itself can be made to frame untrusted websites.

4.12. Link manipulation (reflected)

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/login

Issue detail

The value of the Referer HTTP header is copied into the response within the path of a URL.

The payload nfi67l3qsl was submitted in the Referer HTTP header. This input was echoed unmodified within the response header Location.

This proof-of-concept attack demonstrates that it is possible to modify the URL to reference an arbitrary path. It is also possible to control the query string of the URL to perform HTTP client-side parameter pollution attacks.

Issue background

Link manipulation occurs when an application embeds user input into the path or domain of URLs that appear within application responses. An attacker can use this vulnerability to construct a link that, if visited by another application user, will modify the target of URLs within the response. It may be possible to leverage this to perform various attacks, such as:

- Manipulating the path of an on-site link that has sensitive parameters in the URL. If the response from the modified path contains references to off-site resources, then the sensitive data might be leaked to external domains via the Referer header.
- Manipulating the URL targeted by a form action, making the form submission have unintended side effects.
- Manipulating the URL used by a CSS import statement to point to an attacker-uploaded file, resulting in CSS injection.
- Injecting on-site links containing XSS exploits, thereby bypassing browser anti-XSS defenses, since those defenses typically do not operate on on-site links.

The security impact of this issue depends largely on the nature of the application functionality. Even if it has no direct impact on its own, an attacker may use it in conjunction with other vulnerabilities to escalate their overall severity.

Issue remediation

Consider using a whitelist to restrict user input to safe values. Please note that in some situations this issue will have no security impact, meaning no remediation is necessary.

4.13. DOM data manipulation (DOM-based)

There are 3 instances of this issue:

- /np/images/emihand.png
- /np/images/emihand.png
- /np/images/emihand.png

Issue background

DOM-based vulnerabilities arise when a client-side script reads data from a controllable part of the DOM (for example, the URL) and processes this data in an unsafe way.

DOM data manipulation arises when a script writes controllable data to a field within the DOM that is used within the visible UI or client-side application logic. An attacker may be able to use the vulnerability to construct a URL that, if visited by another application user, will modify the appearance or behavior of the client-side UI. An attacker may be able to leverage this to perform virtual defacement of the application, or possibly to induce the user to perform unintended actions.

Burp Suite automatically identifies this issue using dynamic and static code analysis. Static analysis can lead to false positives that are not actually exploitable. If Burp Scanner has not provided any evidence resulting from dynamic analysis, you should review the relevant code and execution paths to determine whether this vulnerability is indeed present, or whether mitigations are in place that would prevent exploitation.

Issue remediation

The most effective way to avoid DOM-based DOM data manipulation vulnerabilities is not to dynamically write to DOM data fields any data that originated from any untrusted source. If the desired functionality of the application means that this behavior is unavoidable, then defenses must be implemented within the client-side code to prevent malicious data from being stored. In general, this is best achieved by using a whitelist of permitted values.

4.14. DOM data manipulation (reflected DOM-based)

There are 9 instances of this issue:

- /admin/import/store-atm [Referer HTTP header]
- /admin/import/store-atm [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /admin/import/store-atm [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /admin/import/store-branch [Referer HTTP header]
- /admin/import/store-branch [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /admin/import/store-branch [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /admin/reset_password [Referer HTTP header]
- /admin/reset_password [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]
- /admin/reset_password [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Issue background

Reflected DOM-based vulnerabilities arise when data is copied from a request and echoed into the application's immediate response within a part of the DOM that is then processed in an unsafe way by a client-side script. An attacker can leverage the reflection to control a part of the response (for example, a JavaScript string) that can be used to trigger the DOM-based vulnerability.

DOM data manipulation arises when a script writes controllable data to a field within the DOM that is used within the visible UI or client-side application logic. An attacker may be able to use the vulnerability to construct a URL that, if visited by another application user, will modify the appearance or behavior of the client-side UI. An attacker may be able to leverage this to perform virtual defacement of the application, or possibly to induce the user to perform unintended actions.

Burp Suite automatically identifies this issue using dynamic and static code analysis. Static analysis can lead to false positives that are not actually exploitable. If Burp Scanner has not provided any evidence resulting from dynamic analysis, you should review the relevant code and execution paths to determine whether this vulnerability is indeed present, or whether mitigations are in place that would prevent exploitation.

Issue remediation

The most effective way to avoid DOM-based DOM data manipulation vulnerabilities is not to dynamically write to DOM data fields any data that originated from any untrusted source. If the desired functionality of the application means that this behavior is unavoidable, then defenses must be implemented within the client-side code to prevent malicious data from being stored. In general, this is best achieved by using a whitelist of permitted values.

4.14.6. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/import/store-branch [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/import/store-branch

Issue detail

The application may be vulnerable to reflected DOM-based DOM data manipulation.

The name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter is copied into a JavaScript string literal. The payload w5ct9i0wre was submitted in the name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter.

The string containing the payload is then passed to element.textContent.

4.14.9. https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/reset_password [name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter]

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Firm
Host:	https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com
Path:	/admin/reset_password

Issue detail

The application may be vulnerable to reflected DOM-based DOM data manipulation.

The name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter is copied into a JavaScript string literal. The payload kpj6wknxbx was submitted in the name of an arbitrarily supplied URL parameter.

The string containing the payload is then passed to element.textContent.

Request 1

```

Issue description

Publicly accessible backups and outdated copies of files can provide attackers with extra attack surface. Depending on the server configuration and file type, they may also expose source code, configuration details, and other information intended to remain secret.

Issue remediation

Review the file to identify whether it's intended to be publicly accessible, and remove it from the server's web root if it isn't. It may also be worth auditing the server contents to find other outdated files, and taking measures to prevent the problem from reoccurring.

4.16. Email addresses disclosed

There are 2 instances of this issue:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/admin/contact
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/en

Issue background

The presence of email addresses within application responses does not necessarily constitute a security vulnerability. Email addresses may appear intentionally within contact information, and many applications (such as web mail) include arbitrary third-party email addresses within their core content.

However, email addresses of developers and other individuals (whether appearing on-screen or hidden within page source) may disclose information that is useful to an attacker; for example, they may represent usernames that can be used at the application's login, and they may be used in social engineering attacks against the organization's personnel. Unnecessary or excessive disclosure of email addresses may also lead to an increase in the volume of spam email received.

Issue remediation

Consider removing any email addresses that are unnecessary, or replacing personal addresses with anonymous mailbox addresses (such as helpdesk@example.com).

To reduce the quantity of spam sent to anonymous mailbox addresses, consider hiding the email address and instead providing a form that generates the email server-side, protected by a CAPTCHA if necessary.

4.17. Credit card numbers disclosed

Summary

Severity:	Information
Confidence:	Certain

Host: https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com

Path: /backend/js/plugins.bundle.js

Issue detail

The following credit card number was disclosed in the response:

- 4394113113123

Issue background

Applications sometimes disclose sensitive financial information such as credit card numbers. Responses containing credit card numbers may not represent any security vulnerability - for example, a number may belong to the logged-in user to whom it is displayed. If a credit card number is identified during a security assessment it should be verified, then application logic reviewed to identify whether its disclosure within the application is necessary and appropriate.

4.18. Robots.txt file

Summary

Severity: Information

Confidence: Certain

Host: https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com

Path: /robots.txt

Issue detail

The web server contains a robots.txt file.

Issue background

The file robots.txt is used to give instructions to web robots, such as search engine crawlers, about locations within the web site that robots are allowed, or not allowed, to crawl and index.

The presence of the robots.txt does not in itself present any kind of security vulnerability. However, it is often used to identify restricted or private areas of a site's contents. The information in the file may therefore help an attacker to map out the site's contents, especially if some of the locations identified are not linked from elsewhere in the site. If the application relies on robots.txt to protect access to these areas, and does not enforce proper access control over them, then this presents a serious vulnerability.

Issue remediation

The robots.txt file is not itself a security threat, and its correct use can represent good practice for non-security reasons. You should not assume that all web robots will honor the file's instructions. Rather, assume that attackers will pay close attention to any locations identified in the file. Do not rely on robots.txt to provide any kind of protection over unauthorized access.

4.19. Cacheable HTTPS response

There are 6 instances of this issue:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/backend/images/login.svg
- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/robots.txt
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/en/asba@adbl.gov.np
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/en/qr@adbl.gov.np
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/np/asba@adbl.gov.np
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/np/qr@adbl.gov.np

Issue description

Unless directed otherwise, browsers may store a local cached copy of content received from web servers. Some browsers, including Internet Explorer, cache content accessed via HTTPS. If sensitive information in application responses is stored in the local cache, then this may be retrieved by other users who have access to the same computer at a future time.

Issue remediation

Applications should return caching directives instructing browsers not to store local copies of any sensitive data. Often, this can be achieved by configuring the web server to prevent caching for relevant paths within the web root. Alternatively, most web development platforms allow you to control the server's caching directives from within individual scripts. Ideally, the web server should return the following HTTP headers in all responses containing sensitive content:

- Cache-control: no-store
- Pragma: no-cache

4.20. Base64-encoded data in parameter

There are 2 instances of this issue:

- /
- /admin/blog-category/create

Issue background

Applications sometimes Base64-encode parameters in an attempt to obfuscate them from users or facilitate transport of binary data. The presence of Base64-encoded data may indicate security-sensitive information or functionality that is worthy of further investigation. The data should be reviewed to determine whether it contains any interesting information, or provides any additional entry points for malicious input.

Vulnerability classifications

- CWE-310: Cryptographic Issues
- CWE-311: Missing Encryption of Sensitive Data
- CAPEC-37: Retrieve Embedded Sensitive Data

4.21. TLS certificate

There are 2 instances of this issue:

- https://adblbackend.peacenepal.com/
- https://adblbank.peacenepal.com/

Issue background

TLS (or SSL) helps to protect the confidentiality and integrity of information in transit between the browser and server, and to provide authentication of the server's identity. To serve this purpose, the server must present an TLS certificate that is valid for the server's hostname, is issued by a trusted authority and is valid for the current date. If any one of these requirements is not met, TLS connections to the server will not provide the full protection for which TLS is designed.

It should be noted that various attacks exist against TLS in general, and in the context of HTTPS web connections in particular. It may be possible for a determined and suitably-positioned attacker to compromise TLS connections without user detection even when a valid TLS certificate is used.
